Best Practice II

1. Title of the Practice: Clean and Green Campus

2. Objectives of the Practice

The overall goal of initiating this practice was to make students realize the significance of cleanliness and trees in their lives. The students should develop a sense of responsibility towards their surroundings and become accountable for keeping their surroundings clean. The teachers and other staff members are expected to take active part in this activity and encourage the students. The prime objective is to develop a clean and green campus by removing the weeds, planting trees and maintaining cleanliness.

3. The Context

Our Honorable Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi ji has given top priority to hygiene and cleanliness in our surroundings which is required to improve our living environment and elevate our thinking. Lack of hygiene inhibits the progress of the country in every sphere and adversely affects tourism and all other economic activities. It also negatively influences human health. India has a huge population which has a varying degree of education and awareness, hence, achieving a clean hygienic environment for everyone is a huge challenge. Trees are essential for life and the importance of trees in our lives and environment is indisputable. Trees increase beauty but their benefits are beyond this. They provide oxygen, food and shelter to animals. They provide various ecological services like improve soil structure, help in water conservation, moderate climate and regulate temperature. They help in reducing pollution and floods. Hence, everyone should learn to respect trees and every educational institution should encourage tree plantation. It is expected that teachers and students play a lead role in developing a “Swachh Bharat” and realizing the goal of our country. In view of the above, the practice of cleaning the campus has been initiated in this college. Regular tree plantation is also done throughout the year.

4. The Practice

Every teacher, staff member, and student of the college take part in “clean campus” drive. During this drive following major activities are conducted in the campus.

1. Removing weeds from campus
