DISPLACEMENT AND REHABILITATION

The present edited volume entitled "DISPLACEMENT AND REHABILITATION" contains 43 well written papers focusing on the growth and distribution of population through different ways of migration in Indian situation. Migration of population can occur due to various reasons including displacement - due to development projects. People migrate looking for better means of making a living and life. Besides, to understand the flow of population migration and its traditional push-pull factors become very important. The "push" factors refer to circumstances of home that expel people from the place where a better opportunity by better, drought, low agricultural productivity, unemployment etc. while "pull factor" refer to those conditions found elsewhere that would attract migrants. Apart from this there are more hidden and often unexpressed factors that can force the people to take up voluntary urban ward migration because of urban job opportunities, housing conditions, better income opportunities and quality education. There is no doubt that apart from these factors, urban centers offer many opportunities to enjoy a better life.

In this situation, the need of the hour is to study Migration, displacement and rehabilitation of the population, understanding country of huge regional and sub-regional disparities in their economic, culture and living standards. It will be interesting to know, understand and record and analytically interpret migration trends and related components in their interrelated ways. Population's ageing, demographic dividend, emergence of new concept of rehabilitation, forced migration, internal migration, return migration, transmigration and remittance of displacement, role of NGOs in rehabilitation, national policies and programmes for rehabilitation, etc. are some of the issues widely covered in this volume.

Household Women and Their Societal Status

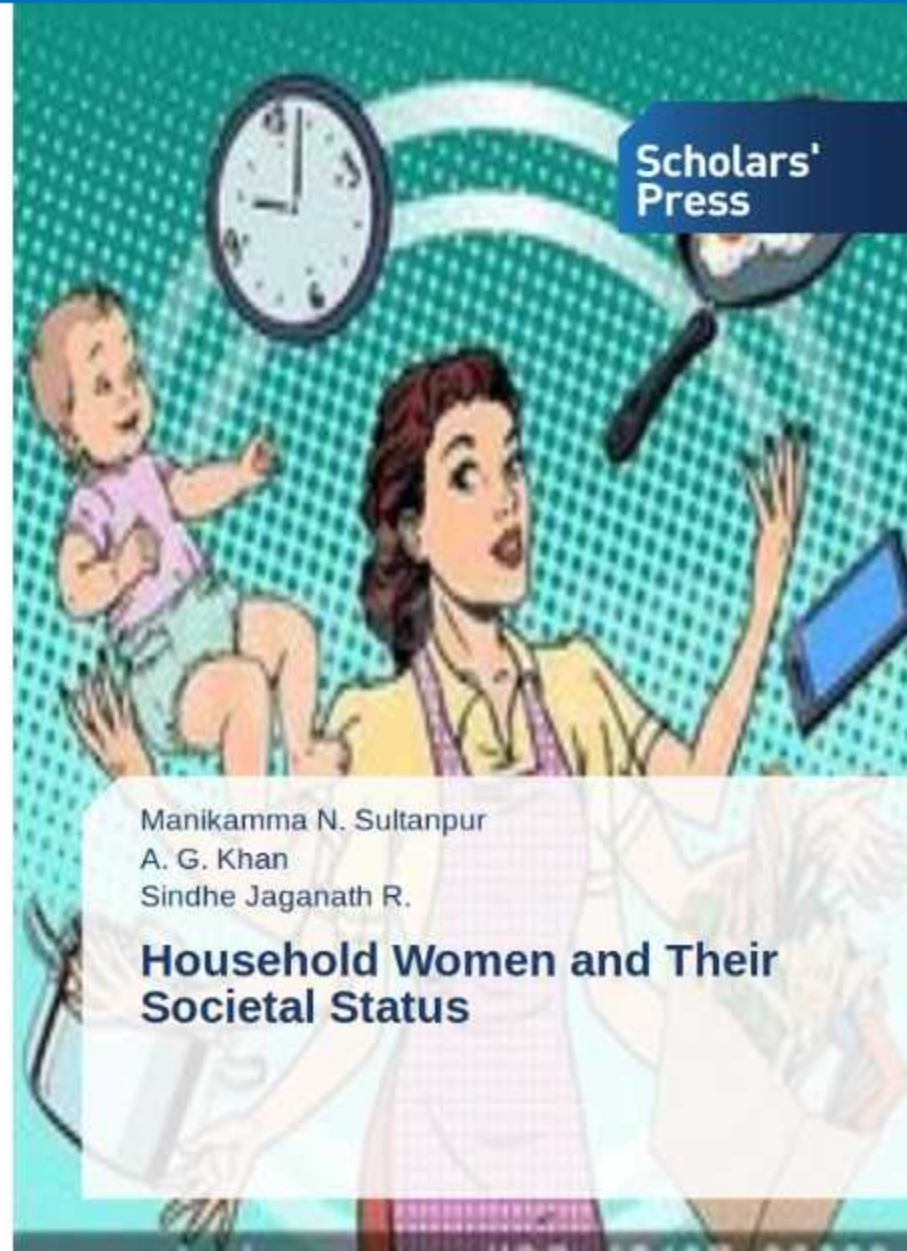

In historical context Manu may be a mythical historical person. He is mentioned in the Vedas itself and is described as the law giver. The later commentators and law givers such as Yaska, Baudhayana, Apastamba, Samkara, often quote him and his works. So Manusmriti is a mirror of the society in its past present and future times and therefore can be held responsible for the condition of anyone anything in the present Hindu Indian society including women and Dalits. Its all-pervasive authority derives its strength from the sacred and secular powers of times including our own. Manusmriti has been placed between 200BC-200 AD by the scholars rather a very long time for a person to exist in his earthly life. However this time in the history of the Indian nation is of permanent importance.

Dr. Manikamma. N Sultanpur has completed M.A in Sociology from Gulbarga University Kalaburagi with first Rank, Gold Medal and also got awarded JRF-Junior Research Fellowship from UGC for securing highest marks in NET, cleared K-SET. She has awarded Ph.D.from GUK published 11 Research Articles Presented 21 Research Papers at conferences.
